The business unit

You do not wish to create a company under Belgian law to exercise your activities in Belgium. Nor do you intend to authorise a representative who could make commitments on behalf of your company here in Belgium.

You are opening a point of sale, a production workshop, an office, an administrative office or any other geographically identifiable place which you manage from the head office of your activities abroad: you are creating a business unit.

Conditions

- A regular activity in Belgium
- An address

Formalities

- Checking access to the profession
- Applying for an itinerant activities permit / fairground activities permit
- Registration with the Banque-Carrefour des Entreprises (central business database) and allocation of a business number
- Identification with the VAT authorities
- Application for all other permits required for certain activities
- Affiliation to the social status of a self-employed person and affiliation of your company
- Affiliation to our social secretariat (payroll administrator) and our family allowance fund if you take on staff
